

Vocabulary 3 – Suffix

enjoy	use	love	divide	vision
flame	break	value	sense

A. Fill in the blanks with the adjectives of the above words by adding suffixes:

1. Mother takes extra care of the glass tank when lifting it as it is breakable.
2. This valuable antique chair can be sold for millions of dollars.
3. This Lego model is divisible and you can turn it into ten parts.
4. Why did you throw away my computer? It was still usable!
5. We had a/an enjoyable day at Ocean Park that we will never forget it.
6. You should jot down notes in clearly visible places on your notebook so that you can do revision easily.
7. Children should not get access to lighters as they are highly flammable.
8. She is such a/an lovable child that no one punishes her even when she does something wrong.
9. My grandfather is sensible that he can answer any of my questions.

B. Fill in the blanks with words that end with suffixes ‘-ist’, ‘-ian’, ‘-er’ or ‘or’:

1. The survivors were so lucky that they survived in the accident.
2. Tom is a famous doctor who has cured many patients.
3. He is a specialist who specializes in selling drugs.
4. David Copperfield is a successful magician although some look down on his magic as childish tricks.
5. The hunter captures hares in the forest with his traps every day and he earns a living in it.
6. My favorite university lecturer/professor gave a talk in the lecture room.
7. A conductor is vital for an orchestra as he/she leads all the members.
8. Peter works as a computer technician who deals with all kinds of technical problems.
9. As a professional violinist, she plays violin really well.
10. I made an appointment with my nutritionist to talk about my diet and do a test on nutrient levels.